

Title: The Bag Choice

EXT. COFFEE SHOP - DAY

Two friends, MINGHAN and MAHADEV, sit at a table with coffee cups in front of them. Minghan is holding a plastic bag, while Lisa has a reusable cloth bag.

MINGHAN

(flashing her plastic bag)

You know, these plastic bags are just so convenient. Who cares about reusable ones?

MAHADEV

(gently)

I do. Using reusable bags is so important for the environment. It's about making small changes for a better future.

MINGHAN

(scoffs)

Oh, come on. What's the harm in using plastic once in a while?

MAHADEV

(earnestly)

Imagine a world where everyone thought that way. Our cities would turn into chaotic messes, covered in plastic waste. Pollution would choke our air, and wildlife would suffer immensely.

EXT. IMAGINED CITY - DAY (FANTASY SEQUENCE)

The scene shifts to a vivid, dystopian imagination of a city overwhelmed by plastic waste. Streets littered with debris and plastic bags. The air is thick with pollution.

MINGHAN

(voiceover, concerned)

What have we done?

EXT. COFFEE SHOP - DAY

Back to reality. Minghan looks troubled, reflecting on Mahadev's words.

MAHADEV

(continuing)

But imagine another scenario—where we all choose reusable bags. We could live in harmony with nature, breathing clean air, surrounded by thriving wildlife.

EXT. IMAGINED FOREST - DAY (FANTASY SEQUENCE)

The fantasy shifts to a beautiful, vibrant forest. Lisa walks through, her reusable bag filled with fresh produce. Birds chirp, and a gentle breeze rustles the leaves. The scene is peaceful and alive.

MAHADEV

(voiceover)

Small choices can make a big difference. Choosing reusable over plastic isn't just about convenience; it's about preserving the beauty of our planet for generations to come.

Back in the coffee shop, Minghan seems inspired, nodding thoughtfully.

MINGHAN

(smiling)

You're right. I never looked at it that way. Maybe it's time for a change.

The camera pans out as they continue their conversation, the mood hopeful.

THE END